

Impossible Valentine

It used to be impossible to stop the unstoppable, now you can with your mind.

All you got to do is make them believe you're their valentine.

Suddenly, the driver loses his way, dismay, interruptions, spontaneous combustions of love and more ignorant love.

Believed or not, naïve or not, stupid or not, the feelings are true, they belong to you. The impossible unstoppable you.

Don't loan yourself to a step behind, don't feel as though you're seeing blind.

The truth sleeping next to you, positively, impossible unstoppable you.

Why, it's not the air. It's not that you care. It's not open wings and good things.

It's just any ole thingity, thing, thing, those damn devils wish to bring.

You open the door and let them in, and they become your friendity, friend, friend.

Just waiting for you to bend just right in the ass. Kick you in yo' teeth, right through your glass.

You be looking like, "Woah!" They be saying, "You didn't know."

It used to be impossible to stop the unstoppable, now you can with your wind.

All you got to do is make them believe you're their valentine.